

Alutila Cave, also called Alutila Mysterious Cave (Bengali: আলুটিলা গুহা) is a cave located in Matiranga Upazila in hill district of Khagrachari, Bangladesh.

The cave formed inside the 1000-meter-high hill named Alutila (potato hill) or Arbari Hill. The hill area is surrounded by deep green forest.

The cave is 100 meters long. It has a natural subway-like shape with cold water flowing at bottom. The cave is so dark that torches or locally sold flambeaux are used to see well enough to walk around the cave.

Alutila Cave
Location	Khagrachari District 7 kilometer from city
Coordinates	 23°05'18"N 91°57'24"E
Depth	3-8 meters (25 feet)
Length	100 meters

Alutila Cave is an inexplicable cave. It is located at Matiranga Upazila in hill district of Khagrachari. It is very beautiful and attractive tourist place of Bangladesh. Alutila cave is situated in Alutila hill.

Alutila Hill is one hundred and fifty meter long. It is surrounded by profound green forest. If visitors are brave and adventure lover, then this is an ideal spot to overcome. There is no danger, nothing too worries and it is totally safe cave. It will take fifteen minutes to pass the cave. It is also a rocky, dark and slippery cave.

The most beautiful thing is the cold water flowing at foot. From top of the hill visitors can see everywhere the Khagrachari town. This is an outstanding picnic spot. A bulky rain forest where the cave is situated protection a wide diversity of birds and wildlife.

Visitors can also enjoy the lifestyles of dissimilar racial alternative groups living in Khagrachari. The crystal clear water of the fall nearby the year celebrates travelers. It becomes more gorgeous and beautiful throughout rainy season.

When the visitors will go to enter the cave they must have a fire torch. Because, inside of the cave very dark. Otherwise they can see nothing.

There are mainly three seasons are observed at Khagrachari. The dry season is cool, sunny and dry during November to March. The pre-monsoon season is during April to May. It is very hot and sunny with special shower. And another is the rainy season between June and October. It is warm, wet and cloudy.

Alutilla Hill Cave is a 150 meter long and very attractive tourist spot in Bangladesh. It is surrounded by deep green forest. This cave is approximately 100 meters long and very dark. It is often considered as the mysterious beauty of Alutila hill. If you are brave and an adventure lover, then this is a perfect spot to conquer. There is no risk at all; it is an absolutely safe cave. It will take 15 minutes to pass the cave. Most interesting thing is the cold water flowing beneath the cave. From the top of the hill, you can see all around the Khagrachhari town. Also, This place is an excellent picnic spot.

How to go:

Alutila cave is just 8 kilometer away from Khagrachhari town. So you can hire a private jeep or auto rickshaw to go there or you can go there by local bus or jeep. But I'll suggest you to hire a private vehicle.

The buses leaving for Khagrachhari from Dhaka.

Things to do

1. View the entire Khagrachhari from top of the cave.

2. See the surrounding green forest.

3. Take pictures for collection.

Eating facilities

As well as you can find many more restaurants here to eat. In Khagrachari then go to System Restaurant. It is the best restaurant in Khagrachari with lowest price. Don't forget to eat bamboo fry there.

Travel tips

You must carry Moshal when enter into the cave.

You may also visit Heritage park, Khagrachari Hill district Council park, Yonged Buddha Bihar, Buddhist Monastery, At Khagrachari town and these locations are accessible by rickshaw.