

Malnichhara is a tea garden in Sylhet district of Bangladesh. It is the largest and first established tea garden in the subcontinent, Bangladesh. It was founded in 1854 by Lord Hudson on 1500 acres.

This tea garden is surrounded by greenery very close to Sylhet city. The tea garden is filled with high and low hills on the land ownership boundary of about two and a half thousand acres. Of the 1,200 acres of land, there are 700 acres for rubber cultivation and the rest of the land includes factories, housing, trees and forests. Malnichhara Tea Garden is one of those places where two leaves come in a bud and get lost in a beautiful green carpet in a very short time.

The first tea garden of the subcontinent, situated on an area of 1500 acres, is another surprise for the tourists in Malnichhara. The color, taste and aroma of Sylhet tea are incomparable. At present tea gardens are being managed under private supervision. Besides tea gardens, oranges and rubber are now cultivated here. Next to this garden is one of the most beautiful stadiums in the world. Where the 2014 World T20 game was held. Apart from Malnichhara Tea Garden, Lakkatura Tea Garden, Ali Bahar Tea Garden, Khadim Ahmed Tea State, Lalakhan Tea State and Barjan Tea State are notable in Sylhet.

The beautiful road has gone through the heart of the tea garden. This tea garden is the first to welcome those who come to Sylhet by air. Many foreigners fell in love with the strange beauty of the garden. They stopped the car and stood by the garden. Walking in the garden, you can see orange, jackfruit and betel nut orchards. Besides, there are many medicinal ornamental trees including tang fruit, agar, rubber sandalwood in the garden.

According to history, the first tea production in China started in 1850. Drinking tea was one of the eight tasks of the daily life of the intellectuals of the country. About 200 years later, in 1854, the first tea production started in Sylhet, a Pak-Indian subcontinent. The British and Bangladeshis became accustomed to tea. Tea cultivation in the subcontinent originated from the Malnichhara tea garden in Sylhet.

After a century and a half, Malnichhara has been privately owned by many English, Pakistani and Bangladeshi managers since 197. Although Srimangal is called the land of tea, the origin of tea cultivation is from this tea garden in Sylhet. Which is now part of history and tradition. As former US Ambassador K Thomas disembarked from the plane and walked along the garden path, he said that the world is so beautiful that it is impossible to understand it without seeing the Malnichhara garden. Not only Harry K. Thomas, thousands of domestic and foreign tourists gather every day in the green maya of Sylhet tea garden.

Apart from Malni, there are Lakkatura Tea Garden, Ali Bahar Tea Estate and Tarapur Tea Garden on the west side. Kalagul Tea Garden to the east and Chiknagul Tea Garden to the east. Besides, if you go at least three kilometers east along the road next to the Malnichhara main bungalow, you will see Harung Hurung Cave.

History

Malnicherra Tea Domain is the most seasoned tea garden in Bangladesh. It's established in 1854 B.C. When Bangladesh was involved by English colony. After freedom in 1947 from England at Pakistan period it was coordinated by Duncan Siblings co. Ltd. Now this tea plantation nursery is coordinated by acclaimed industrialist Ragib Ali. To make this greenery enclosure wonderful Mr. Ragib Ali playing an extraordinary rule. Men can without much of a stretch visit this tea garden, even it's doesn't take cash or ticket for Passage.

Step by step instructions to Visit

It's truly simple to visit Malnicherra Tea Bequest on the grounds that it's not so distant from sylhet city organization it's just 2.5km a long way from sylhet city corporation. If you are a home out of Sylhet you ought to start things out sylhet at Transport or Train. Then you will come to Malnichara easily. It takes 25 minutes to visit Malnicherra from Sylhet Focal Transport Stand or Sylhet Focal Railroad